WHY WE EXIST

Replace social media in kids' lives with story.

India's first family of original 3D heroes, built so a phone becomes a place where stories live — not where they die. In order: friendship, values, meaningful stories, and relatability.

AUDIENCE

Parents of kids 4–12 are who we talk to. Kids meet the brand on YouTube and in the clothes — never on the marketing site.

THE CAST

Five original 3D characters — Jevika, Joy, Pinki, Minku and Brutus. The cast is the brand; every section returns to them.

ONE UNIVERSE, TWO PILLARS

Cinematic stories on YouTube and merchandise in the shop. Every section of both sites ladders up to one of the two.

TWO SURFACES

jevikajoy.com — story and trust, navy fields.
jevikajoy.shop — tees, cream canvas, sticker cards.

CAST

Five friends, one colour each

- Patriotic-loud or preachy
- Edu-tech or skill-tracker first
- Cheap or budget-cartoon
- Talking down to grown-ups
- Ironic or distant

SIX PRINCIPLES

1 The cast is the brand
Jevika, Joy, Pinki, Minku and Brutus are the spine. Every section eventually returns to them.

2 Show the bonding
Imagery reads as the five together — friendship in motion. Never a child alone, hunched over a phone.

3 Show, don't tell
Lead with the universe and one call to action. The long story comes after the proof.

4 Grown-up surface, kid-warm cards
Parents read the site. The playful colour lives inside cards and characters, not the whole canvas.

5 Little powers, not superpowers
A nudge, a trick, a clever save. Never a power that solves the plot. Relatable beats spectacle.

6 Built for the 9 pm parent
Would an exhausted parent, after a long day, tap "Shop now"? If not, redesign.

NEVER LOOK LIKE

Loud autoplay-rabbit-hole kids' CGI · edu-tech dashboards and percentile charts · imported Western defaults · scrapbook chaos (washi tape, confetti spray) · cold SaaS glass panels.

Three letters, one big hello.

Primary lockup · JJW wordmark, orbiting planet, name plate and tagline.
Shown from a 680 px crop of the brand sheet — request the vector master before any print work.

WORDMARK · AS USED IN HEADERS AND FOOTERS

On Indoor cream

On Navy

Compact mark

ANATOMY

- Adventure Red — Jevika — with a white star
- Adventure Blue — Joy — with a white star
- Sunshine Gold — World — with a white heart

Stars and a heart sit inside the letters; a planet on an orbit marks the universe. The plate is Navy with white and Sunshine Gold type.

USING IT — RECOMMENDED

- Keep clear space of at least one “J” stem width on every side.
- Smallest size: about 72 px wide on screen, 24 mm in print.
- Place on cream, white, navy or a flat brand colour — the white sticker outline does the separating.

NEVER

- Recolour, outline, stretch or rotate the letters.
- Redraw it in a font — it is artwork.
- Put it on busy photography without a calm area.

RULES THAT COST TIME TO LEARN

- Reference sites lend layout and motion — never colour. Every colour comes from the brand sheet.
- Text on a character fill is always Navy. Never tint a title with its own card's colour.
- Gold means active on navy fields. Pink or gold on cream is decoration, not text.

CONTRAST, CALCULATED · WCAG 2.x · AA needs 4.5:1

Cream on Navy reads the same as Navy on Cream (12.2:1). Heart Pink and Sunshine Gold are brand colours, not text colours, on cream — use them for fills and decoration; use Navy for anything people must read.

Where a product carries two character tags (the Brutus Boxer Tee is both Brutus and Joy), the card takes the colour of the collection being viewed. Default is Sky Blue.

Warm light, real garments, friends together.

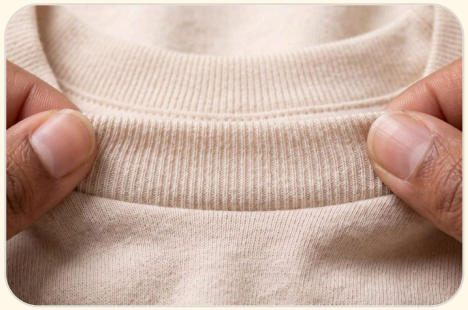

Cast portrait — all five, together, with the logo.

Fabric macros — weave, collar, hem, shoulder seam.

Quality close-ups back the claims in the copy.

ART DIRECTION

- 3D, Pixar-style characters — warm, rounded, expressive. Always the five together when the cast appears.
- Real garments, true prints. Never invent merchandise; show prints, colourway and front/back as made.
- Soft natural light — picnics, gardens, sunlit rooms. Backgrounds from the Environment palette.
- Room for words. Keep a calm area so editable headlines sit on the image; add a soft cream fade, not a heavy overlay.
- Product shots: four per colourway — packshot with stickers, hero lifestyle, back lifestyle, 16:9 banner.

AVOID

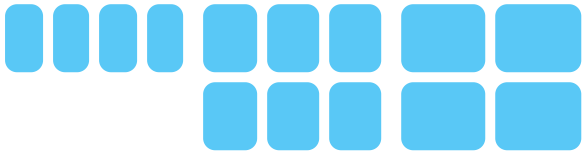

- A child alone with a phone.
- Confetti sprays, washi tape, tilted scrapbook cards.
- Stock-photo kids that are not our characters.

Calm structure under all that colour.

LAYOUT

Content width	max 1440 px
Side gutter	24 px · phone 15 px
Section space	40 → 80 px (fluid)

Root size	1 rem = 10 px

≥ 990 · 4 cols 750–989 · 3 < 750 · 2

MOTION

- Ambient and cheap. A 24 s linear marquee, a gentle bob on the scroll chevron, button presses where the shadow collapses.
- Cards lift 4 px on hover; buttons settle in 0.2–0.3 s with `cubic-bezier(.4,0,.2,1)`.
- No scroll choreography on the website — no pins, parallax or entrance reveals. Plain document flow.
- Reduced motion is respected: marquee and bobbing pause, smooth scrolling is off.
- On the website, nothing depends on JavaScript to appear.

ACCESS

- 4.5:1 contrast floor for text. On the shop, the home, collection, product, cart and search pages measured 4.6:1 or better.
- Touch targets of 44 px or more, including pills and icon buttons.
- Keyboard focus is shown on buttons and links, and the shop theme carries a skip-to-content link.
- Colour never carries meaning alone — characters also have names and roles.
- Product images are alt-texted starting with the colour name — the product page groups galleries by it.

Section rhythm on the website

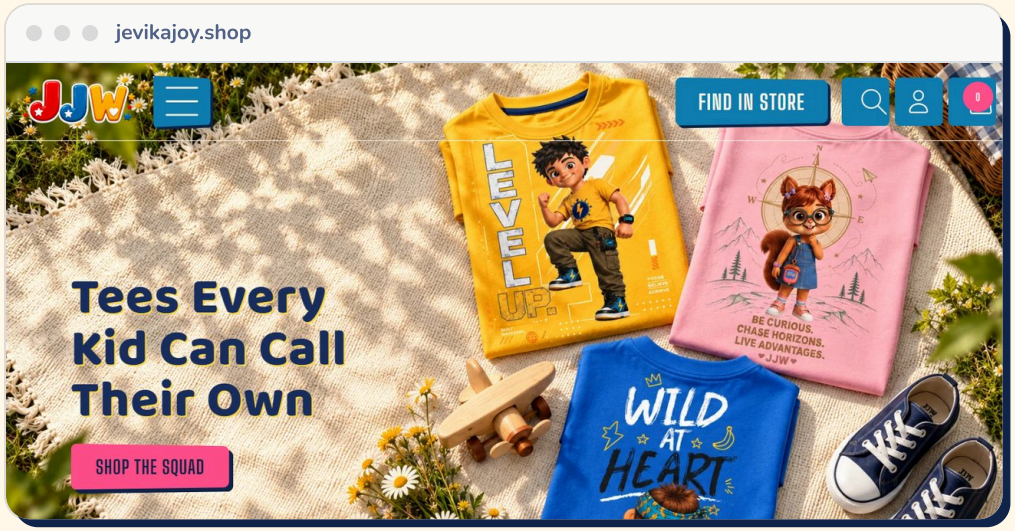

Sections alternate mood so the palette never flattens into one wash: dark navy fields for the brand story (calm, credible, gold highlights) and bright flat fields — Sky Blue, cream — for the kid-facing promise. Don't blend the two registers inside one section.
